SPACE

In his last adventure 'Vampire from Space,' Dr Who used his space/time machine the Tardis to save Earth from the alien parasite creature Axos by forcing it into a time-loop. But Dr Who is afraid that the Master, who sent Axos to destroy Earth, has escaped and will fight again... now read on

I'VE DONE IT! I'VE MADE A NEW DEMATERIALISATION CIRCUIT FOR THE TARDIS!

BUT WILL IT WORK? THE TIME LORDS MEAN TO KEEP ME HERE ON EARTH...

MEANWHILE SOMEWHERE IN SPACE AND TIME...

THE REPORT ON THE DOOMSDAY WEAPON IS MISSING. THE MASTER MUST HAVE TAKEN IT!

WHY NOT USE THE DOCTOR TO DEAL WITH HIM? BUT WAIT —

WE'VE IMMOBILISED HIS TARDIS.

THEN LET US RESTORE HIS FREEDOM — FOR AS LONG AS IT SERVES OUR PURPOSE...

... AND BACK ON EARTH.

NOW WE'LL TRY OUT THE NEW CIRCUIT.

DOCTOR! THE DOORS HAVE CLOSED!

WHAT'S HAPPENING DOCTOR?

THE TARDIS IS BEING OPERATED BY REMOTE CONTROL — WE'RE TRAVELLING THROUGH SPACE AND TIME!

IT MUST BE THE TIME LORDS.

A PLANET WITH AN ATMOSPHERE — THAT MUST BE OUR DESTINATION.

WE'LL JUST HAVE A LOOK ROUND, THEN I'LL TRY AND GET YOU BACK TO EARTH.

DOCTOR! THE PETALS. THEY'RE DIFFERENT COLOURS!

MEANWHILE A FEW YARDS AWAY...

Who are these strange humanoid creatures? Is it their machine whose tracks Dr Who has discovered – or are there other forms of intelligent life on this planet? And why have the Time Lords sent the Doctor here? Don't miss the first thrilling episode of his new adventure: Saturday 6.10 BBC1 Colour

Dr Who zooms off into time again

WHAT IS the strange hold Dr Who exerts over eight million television viewers? Why has this children's programme become a cult with adults? Are the Time Lords exerting their will? Insisting that we follow the extraordinary adventures?

Not long ago a professor of philosophy asked if he could borrow some Dr Who scripts to help with his research into the possibilities of travel in time.

Had the science fiction writers inadvertently stumbled on fact?

This week the indomitable doctor travels into the future for the first time since his banishment to the planet Earth. The Time Lords exiled him here as a punishment for meddling in the affairs of other planets.

TARDIS RIDDLE

Dr Who was marooned here for eternity. So how is he able to zoom off into time again? No one on earth could mend his Tardis.

Producer Barry Letts has headed the Dr Who team for 18 months. 'No one is cynical about the programme, no one does it just to earn a living,' he says. 'Very often we sit up late into the night working on it.'

HIS ESCAPADES

Douglas Camfield, one of the directors, has been connected in some capacity with 55 episodes. He says: 'In my opinion this is technically the most difficult show in British television.'

The technical difficulties arise mainly from the nature of the doctor's escapades. In his bizarre career he has visited dozens of different planets and met the strangest beings. Complicated sets and costumes are often involved, to say nothing of ingeniously contrived special effects.

Considering that most episodes are completed with an average of one day's filming and one day in the studio, it is staggering that these formidable difficulties are so regularly overcome.

INSIDE THE BOX...

Perhaps the police box right outside Barry Letts' office in London helps to provide some inspiration. It seemed strange that it should be positioned just there, so after my visit I thought I would take a peek inside. It was rather unusual, just as if...

But no. That would be impossible. Surely? RUSSELL MILLER
